

Dry Brushing the Romans - with a side of embossing!

with Loredana Zega

This is a very special four-day class which I've fashioned for the BVCG. The first few days will focus on Roman capitals. Our study is based on the magnificent inscription on the Trajan column in Rome - agreed by most calligraphers to be one of the most important letterforms. My approach to these marvellous letters is a little different. I believe the way I create my Roman capitals could in fact be one of the ways they were actually written on the stone. In this special workshop, I will teach you how to use the dry brush technique to create Roman capitals. I will also explore with you how to blend colours, create 3D effects and combine beautiful embossing in order to design a truly unique final piece.

This is Loredana's second time teaching us here in Calgary – and she is back by popular demand. Her class is sure to fill up quickly. Join us for a great four days of calligraphy, embossing and designing!
